

Humanity Sits on the Proverbial Fence

BY PIA ORLEANE, PH.D. &
CULLEN BAIRD SMITH

2020 finds humanity at the pinnacle of duality. We are sitting very precariously on a proverbial fence where we can either fall backwards into a chaotic abyss of human mistakes and stupidity or lean forward with new vision into positive change through using spiritual thinking (centred in our hearts) to make practical and realistic changes and move into a new world.

The last few years provided humanity with a critical look at what is wrong with the world. Deep explorations by inspirational detectives in New Dawn magazine consistently revealed treachery against humanity and the planet herself. An incredibly small number of financially affluent controllers manipulate our politics, finances, weather, and even our public opinion through “fake” news and distorted perceptions of what is actually occurring in the world.

If we continue to listen and believe that all that is wrong is someone else’s fault, or that there is nothing we can do to make a difference, 2020 will find us falling from the fence into a continued spiral of loss, beginning with further losses of our personal freedom, deepening the loss of our spiritual connections to Nature, the Universe, and each other, and ultimately the loss of all life on the planet.

One of the most dangerous and insidious actions is the intentional “dumbing down” of human intelligence by the widespread use of technology and Artificial Intelligence. By unthinkingly using AI-driven technology to help us choose our purchases, connect with others, and the internet as our main source of information, we willingly give up our right to investigate and make wise choices for ourselves – choices we are capable of making through connecting to our intuition rather than relying upon select data that often leads us to what the controllers want us to choose.

2020 need not see us falling to the wrong side of the fence. We see evidence of the birth of new, conscious thinking sweeping across the planet. We see it in people beginning to ask the right questions, speak out for the truth (even at the risk of imprisonment for whistleblowing), and protesting in the streets against poor government. Many people are taking action to stop heinous crimes against life – the end result of mindless ignorance, apathetic acceptance, and refusal to change – marks of an unaware society.

To continue the momentum of posi-

In the current environment it is difficult to sort out who is saying the right thing because they are acting from their hearts (a necessity for positive change) from those who are saying the right thing because they wish to achieve their own agenda. We need to use critical thinking, our hearts, and our intuition when evaluating anything presented to us as “progress.” (Please see our article in this issue).

It is impossible from the view of the fence to analyse what humanity will tive change and make a lasting difference, we need to open our eyes wider, make more spiritual choices in how we protest the actions against us, and commit to thinking of what is best for the planet and the highest good of all continually, not just occasionally when something is brought to our attention. Decisions, individual and collective, should lead us to practical and conscious, spiritual actions. For example, returning to old fashioned communication methods rather than our constant use of smartphones and the internet.

choose in 2020. We, as a species, could go either way, dependent on every choice we make individually and collectively. What we do see is that 2020 will be a year of tremendous and unprecedented changes and choices, followed by opportunities or consequences. Quite simply, either we change and evolve, or we die. Soon. We also see an increased presence of interstellar help that is gathering around to watch, to support us, and to help us make the right choices before it is too late.
